Able Training Center Program Overview

May 2015

Organizational History

Leg Up Farm is a comprehensive outpatient therapy center located in York County, Pennsylvania designed exclusively for children and young adults up to the age of 21 with disabilities, developmental delays, and acquired injuries. Incorporated as a non-profit organization in November 1997, Leg Up Farm began offering limited programs and services to the public in its new 20,250 square-foot facility on April 9, 2010. An additional 24,300 square-foot barn and indoor riding arena was completed in November 2010. The Wellness and Education Center opened in September 2013. A total of more than 18 acres, collectively known as the Rainbow Gardens, is available for therapeutic and recreational use at the site – including a handicap-accessible playground, music garden, walking paths, and one of country’s largest outdoor koi ponds.

Shortly after opening, Leg Up Farm became keenly aware that many of the children they served would soon “age out” of the programs they offered with limited opportunities for continued growth. To bridge the age gap and address this growing need in the community, Leg Up Farm assumed control of York County Able-Printers and founded Able-Services in June 2014. As a member of the Leg Up Farm family, Able-Services provides life-span services and customized day programming experiences for special needs adults, ages 18-59. These experiences include the teaching of general vocational skills, as well as specific opportunities in horticulture and screen printing.

Leg Up Farm’s philosophy is to enrich the development of each client regardless of diagnosis and to support the family as an integral member of the caregiver team. Based on the work of many different leaders in the developmental model, treatment is designed to be client-centered and to focus upon the strengths and challenges of the individual as a whole. Leg Up Farm believes that every person is special and that human relationships are critical to an individual’s development and overall well-being. For therapy and programming to be maximally effective, everyone involved in caring for the individual must work together ... from family and friends, to doctors and therapists, to teachers, volunteers, and community members. Leg Up Farm has coined the phrase “Circle of Care” depicted in the illustration below to describe its client-centered, community-based, transdisciplinary team approach to programs and services.

At Leg Up Farm, each person is at the center of an individually-tailored therapy program. Our strategy for success includes a mix of highly effective programs and services delivered in fun, safe, client-friendly environments – both indoors and out. Every effort will be made to include all caregivers, including parents and siblings, in the ongoing development and implementation of each individual’s program.

Program Area Descriptions

Pre-Vocational Training: Basic skills and concepts of increasing complexity are addressed in varying work areas, depending on the needs of the program participant.

Activities of Daily Living: Program Participants are introduced to tasks and activities that enable them to achieve independence and improve self-awareness. This includes participation in areas such as mobility, personal hygiene and self-care, and community living and involvement. These areas help to provide opportunities for self-expression and achievement.

Social Skills: Program Participants participate in social activities and are taught examples of acceptable behavior and interaction through their participation in various situations, instruction, and role-playing and modeling activities. In addition, participants learn conflict resolution, anger management, and interpersonal relationship skills.

Leisure/Physical Fitness/Recreation: Program Participants are a part of activities that assist them in enhancing their gross and fine motor skills, eye/hand coordination, recreational play, and leisure experiences for personal and social development. Participants utilize a greenhouse space to learn to grow and care for plants and produce to enhance their skills and self-esteem as they produce products that can be used in other areas of the program. Additional activities include theatre, arts and crafts, fitness activities, and games.

Communication: Effective communication skills are taught through activities, role-playing, and modeling, including conversational skills, vocabulary, spelling, and letter writing.

Community Participation: Program Participants are involved in community activities so that they may experience cultural enrichment, enhance their self-esteem, and develop a sense of belonging.

Nutrition/Health: Program Participants learn many skills to address health and nutrition needs. These lessons may begin in the greenhouse with planting and growing healthy foods and carry over into programming where they learn how to prepare the items they grow in a healthy way, plan menus, and utilize appropriate personal hygiene.

Self-Advocacy: Program Participants are encouraged to advocate for themselves and support is provided as needed, as well as a nurturing atmosphere that communicates a respect for all and the importance of each person's feelings and opinions.

Program Rules & Regulations

1. Physical appearance should be neat and clean.
2. Obey all safety signs and engage in proper safety practices.
3. Treat others with respect and common courtesy.

Program Operation Information

Lunch: Each person is responsible for bringing a lunch daily.

Transportation: Each participant is responsible for arranging their own round trip transportation and notifying their transportation provider if they are unable to attend or if the program is closed for a holiday, in-service, or inclement weather.

Inclement Weather: If the decision is made to open the facility late or close for the day, due to inclement weather, notification will be made as follows:

1. Program Participants will be notified at the listed emergency contact phone number that the program will be opening late or closing for the day.
2. A pre-recorded message will be placed on the Leg Up Farm answering machine – (717) 266-9294 and the Able-Services answering machine – (717) 384-6130; and
3. A notice will be posted on the Leg Up Farm Facebook page – <http://www.facebook.com/#!/groups/legupfarm/>

Hours of Operation: The facility opens at 9:00AM and individuals must be picked up no later than 3:30PM.

Medications: No medications will be administered without meeting the requirements of the medication policy. This includes the storage of medications in their original prescription container and the provision of prescriptions before the administration of any over-the-counter medications. All medication changes/instructions must be submitted to Able-Services staff members in writing from the individual's physician. We are prohibited from accepting verbal instructions.

Health Policy: It is the policy of Able-Services, Inc. that program participants stay home if they are ill, as any person who is not feeling well should be in the comforts of home, not in a day programming environment. Participants should stay home or will be sent home in the event that any of the following are observed: high seizure activity, diarrhea, vomiting, abnormally unsteady gait, excessive lethargy, fever or subnormal body temperature. If a participant is unable to attend programming due to illness, please contact Able Training Center to let staff know they will be absent and when they will be returning, if known.

A participant who has a contagious/infectious* condition is to remain home a minimum of 24 hours after starting an antibiotic. Although the person is no longer contagious after 24 hours, it is understood that he/she may still not feel up to par and require more time to recuperate at home.

A participant who contracts a communicable disease* requires a written statement from a physician to return to the program. This written statement must contain the diagnosis, any physical limitations, and precautions that must be taken in order to prevent the spread of the disease to other individuals.

Contagious/Infectious* – an illness in which an infection is present and is easily transmitted from person to person by casual skin contact or respiratory droplets when coughing or sneezing.

Communicable Disease* – an illness due to a specific infectious agent or its toxic by-products. This illness is passed by transmitting the infectious source of an infected person or an infected non-living object to a susceptible person, either directly or indirectly within the environment.

Fire Safety Policy & Procedure: All people we support shall be instructed in each person's primary language or mode of communication, upon initial admission, and re-instructed annually on these topics: general fire safety, evacuation procedures, responsibilities during fire drills, the designated meeting place outside the building or within the fire safe area in the event of an actual fire. If a person we support is medically or functionally unable to participate in the fire safety training, the facility will keep documentation specifying why the person could not participate. A staff person will be assigned to ensure that person exits the building during emergencies.

Holidays: Able-Services will be closed on the following holidays/in-service days. A yearly calendar will be sent home to inform you of the exact dates of the closings.
